Happy Fathers Day

To the Fathers of North Street Church,

May the Lord bless you as you shepherd your family for His glory. Memorize and apply these two verses for fatherhood, one from the Old Testament and one from the New Testament - Proverbs 3:5-6 which says, "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, And lean not on your own understanding; In all your ways acknowledge Him, And He shall direct your paths." and James 1:5 which says, "If any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all liberally and without reproach, and it will be given to him."

Have a Happy Fathers Day DAD!

NSCC Annual Picnic

On Sunday July 29 all friends and members of North Street Church are invited to enjoy the annual All Church Picnic. This year's picnic will be held at Memorial Park following worship at North Street Church.

Meat and dessert will be provided. Each family is asked to bring table setting, table cover and beverages. SIGN UP for SIDE DISHES will be held in JULY! And don't forget your chair for relaxin'!

Exciting Changes on the Spiritual Horizon

Busy people in a busy world is a good way to describe most these days. Our day to day schedules are driven by the demands of expectations, promising opportunities and the hope for success. Honestly, I wonder how many have the time or take the time for one thought beyond the agenda of the day or time to even breathe a prayer.

In the church world, our response to this busy world is to try to keep up by making ourselves busy with the "right stuff!" There is no shortage of books, seminars, and spiritual development opportunities. Will one more small group study fix it all? One more seminar? Hearing the next popular speaker?

A drive for more information over the past few decades seems to be an accurate way of describing, at least, the evangelical church. Looking over the shoulder of our "success", we need to observe the fruit. Are we seeing more humble disciples who have found peace? Are we observing the church at large having found joy and a settled spirit? Does contentment with godliness describe the church at large? It appears that our quest for more keeps us driven and perhaps unsettled without much joy.

People need relationship before they need information. A missing link in discipling and Christian growth often is relationship— relationship with God and with people. People can and do attend group after group and gain lots of information with no measurable spiritual differences observed. In fact, many become defeated and drop out after trying to make their way in to some form of fellowship. Upon arrival, the sign on the door says "CLOSED- not really for you," even though the advertisement says "OPEN - you are invited!"

Dr. Edmund Chan of Singapore has recently shared that the church is headed toward a loss of identity and destiny because we have become "a mile wide and an inch deep" so to speak, stating that Christians are no different from the world in core values and moral choices! He says that the church needs to focus on making "disciples" not just "converts." A shift from exhortation alone to wise spiritual direction. Four shifts of which he speaks are from spiritual exhortation alone to giving personal spiritual direction, from being program oriented to people oriented, from outward conformity alone to real value change and from the classroom to the real-world. Life management rather than ministry management becomes a goal!

These shifts spell out a wonderful change on the horizon. It is a call for the church to be the church. People need the Lord. People need people. The Lord uses people to minister to people! Let's slow it down, get off the racetrack of spiritual achievement success and just BE the church. No matter the location, no matter the size, no matter the leadership, not matter the resources - every church every where can display the character of the body of Christ - being joyful in hope, patient in affliction, faithful in prayer, sharing with God's people who are in need, rejoicing with those who rejoice; mourning with those who mourn.
