Original Sin

When we think of mankind, we don't often think about a corporate identity. We tend to think of ourselves and even take pride in areas where we differ from others. In some contexts, it's vitally important that we as the church differ from the majority. But there is also a picture in the church of corporate identity. If you go out and live like the world, your unrighteous behavior can give this entire church group a bad reputation. The Bible shows us some examples of this, where God punishes an entire nation based on the sins of a few. In Joshua 7, a man steals treasures from Jericho, and that results in the death of his whole family. In that passage, it says that God held all Israel accountable. The opposite is seen in Abraham's conversation with God over Sodom. God would have spared the whole city if only a few righteous ones were found. In the same way, but on a much grander scale, the sin of Adam was passed on to all the descendants of Adam. That is all people. When Adam sinned in the garden he didn't sin as a man, but as every man alive. So all people that come from Adam and Eve are partakers of that sin and are born enemies of God. So don't let someone tell you that you aren't a sinner until you are grown and old enough to purposely rebel against God. The Bible reveals that every person is guilty as if they were present with Adam and shared in the breaking of God's command with him. But don't forget the amazing reality of Romans 5. We fell with the first Adam into sin, but we as the church also receive the corporate identity with the second Adam Jesus Christ.
